A dune is a mound of sand that is formed by the wind, usually along the beach or in a desert. Dunes form when wind blows sand into a sheltered area behind an obstacle.

Visit National Geographic and complete the chart below.
https://education.nationalgeographic.org/resource/dune/

Type of Dune	Created by	Made by	Location	Country

After completing the chart, visit these places using Google Earth (use the 3D feature).

- ☐ San Felipe Dunes, Baja California, Mexico.
- ☐ Sahara Desert in Libya.
- ☐ Sands National Monument, New Mexico.
- ☐ Samalayuca Desert, Mexico.
- ☐ Sam Sand Dunes, Jaisalmer, India.
- ☐ The Bahamas in the Caribbean Sea.
- ☐ Skeleton Coast in Namibia.
- ☐ Zion National Park, Utah.